The Grand Design 17

01

1.1 First Principles 17
1.1.1 Typography exists to honor content 17
1.1.2 Letters have a life and dignity of their own 18
1.1.3 There is a style beyond style 19
1.2 Tactics 20
1.2.1 Read the text before designing it 20
1.2.2 Discover the outer logic of the typography in the inner logic of the text 20
1.2.3 Make the visible relationship between the text and other elements (photographs, captions, tables, diagrams, notes) a reflection of their real relationship 21
1.2.4 Choose a typeface or a group of faces that will honor and elucidate the character of the text 22
1.2.5 Shape the page and frame the textblock so that it honors and reveals every element, every relationship between elements, and every logical nuance of the text 23
1.2.6 Give full typographic attention even to incidental details 24
1.3 Summary 24

Rhythm & Proportion 25

02

2.1 Horizontal Motion 25
2.1.1 Define the word space to suit the size and natural letterfit of the font 25
2.1.2 Choose a comfortable measure 26
2.1.3 Set ragged if ragged setting suits the text and the page 27
2.1.4 Use a single word space between sentences 28
2.1.5 Add little or no space within strings of initials 30
2.1.6 Letterspace all strings of capitals and small caps, and all long strings of digits 30
2.1.7 Don't letterspace the lower case without a reason 31 31
2.1.8 Kern consistently and modestly or not at all 32
2.1.9 Don't alter the widths or shapes of letters without cause 35
2.1.10 Don't stretch the space until it breaks 35
2.2 Vertical Motion 36 36
2.2.1 Choose a basic leading that suits the typeface, text and measure 36
2.2.2 Add and delete vertical space in measured intervals 37
2.2.3 Don't suffocate the page 39

2.3 Blocks & Paragraphs 39
2.3.1 Set opening paragraphs flush left 39
2.3.2 In continuous text, mark all paragraphs after the first with an indent of at least one en 39
2.3.3 Add extra lead before and after block quotations 40
2.3.4 Indent or center verse quotations 41
2.4 Etiquette of Hyphenation & Pagination 42
2.4.1 At hyphenated line-ends, leave at least two characters behind and take at least three forward 42
2.4.2 Avoid leaving the stub-end of a hyphenated word, or any word shorter than four letters, as the last line of a paragraph 42
2.4.3 Avoid more than three consecutive hyphenated lines 43
2.4.4 Hyphenate proper names only as a last resort unless they occur with the frequency of common nouns 43
2.4.5 Hyphenate according to the conventions of the language 43
2.4.6 Link short numerical and mathematical expressions with hard spaces 43
2.4.7 Avoid beginning more than two consecutive lines with the same word 43

2.4.8 Never begin a page with the last line of a multi-line paragraph 43
2.4.9 Balance facing pages by moving single lines 44
2.4.10 Avoid hyphenated breaks where the text is interrupted 44
2.4.11 Abandon any and all rules of hyphenation and pagination that Jail to serve the needs of the text 44
